

TRAINING PROGRAM ON LAND ACQUISITION AND REHABILITATION AND RESETTLEMENT (R&R)

ABOUT THE TRAINING:

Acquisition of land is basically for public purposes, companies and infrastructure projects. It is essentially a continuous activity for countries which are growing as fastest economies in the World. India is one of those countries which are growing in fastest pace and setting up huge amount of infrastructure projects like airports, roads, universities, scientific institutions, water, sanitation, hospitals, industry and urban development. However, acquisition of a land is a very sensitive activity and involves issues like replacement of people, rehabilitation, resettlement and compensation etc. which are important to be looked into for smooth acquisition. In this context, understanding the relevant laws and procedure with rules are highly essential for better management of the process of land acquisition of private land and property. It is also equally important for officers handling these matters to understand the laws, policies and rules relating to rehabilitation and resettlement and dealing with the legitimate concerns of the affected persons and their families affectively.
